

SUN CITY INDEPENDENT

Opinion

Letters to the Editor

Page A4

8-21-13

Stewart has valid points

Very nice talking points (“Stewart has no accountability,” Sun City Independent, Aug. 7, 2013) for the rec board. However, she forgot to explain why this board and past boards are ignoring the rules they are governed by.

They have the attitude, as our current president (could care less about the membership). If Ms. Henshaw is happy with no explanation about some of the board’s decisions, fine. Some of us are not.

I believe the reason Ms. Stewart doesn’t use our facilities stems from a railroad job by a few people a few years back that took her to be targeted by the board at that time.

Of course, some of our buildings are in need of repair — use the written rules to fix them. It is easy to see why there is a campaign to discourage Ms. Stewart. Dissenting voices are always the bad guys when a closer look at the operations and the rules are brought to light by those who also care about our community. The sad part of all this is membership has no recourse to defend its opposing views. Mrs. Stewart is offering to try and defend that view.

If you wish everyone who is in disagreement with the operations here to move, then maybe everyone who thinks this is an up-and-up operation should move also. Not many are questioning the motives of the boards, just the way they are operating.

Ken Gegg
Sun City